HINES DEFENDS HIS POLICIES

Says Veterans' Bureau Has Been Cleaned Up.

ADDRESSES LEGION MEETING

Predicts Further Attacks on Administration of the Bureau and Says the Bureau Can Not Take Another Forward Step Unless Public Confidence in the Work Is Restored. Thousands of Veterans Present.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—The annual American legion convention opened here with thousands of veterans in attendance.

Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' bureau, in an address before the convention, declared that the bureau has been "cleaned up," but that it "can not take another forward step unless public confidence in our work is preserved by a cessation of turmoil and baseless condemnation."

Certain minority delegations are ready to start a fight to force the legion into politics by demanding an expression of opinion from the convention on important issues of the presidential campaign.

The legion will never get so far astray from its original purposes, however, as to endorse candidates for any office, nor maneuver its strength to the support of any one candidate or group of candidates, leaders insisted.

Director Hines complimented the legion for responding to his appeal for its "whole-hearted co-operation" and lending "ungrudgingly an active and intelligent co-operation of the highest degree of helpfulness." He added:

"I find the air is at this moment full of presages and rumors that attacks will shortly again be made upon the veterans' bureau, that propaganda of a certain sort is in preparation for use in aid of purposes not at all connected with the interests of the ex-service men, and that publicity campaigns are projected, in which it is intended to drag out the mistakes and errors of the past, and so to visit, as it were, the sins of those upon the children of the third and fourth generation."

"There was at one time something amiss in the United States veterans' bureau. The roots of those troubles lay far back in the beginning, when these government agencies were hastily organized, under the stress of actual warfare, imperfectly thought out, inefficiently manned and administered and illogically, spasmodically developed in times of peace."

Defending his administration, General Hines said: "If it shall be said that there is anything fundamentally wrong with the veterans' bureau now such statements shall be untrue. I am not so foolish as to suggest that the administration of veteran relief is now a perfect thing; it never can be that and never will; but we can say—for it is truth itself—that an enormous stride has been taken."

Director Hines said that all available government hospital facilities have been thrown open to veterans and that the problem of rehabilitation has been solved.

DISTRICT HEADS NAMED

Ohio M. E. Conference Announces Assignments.

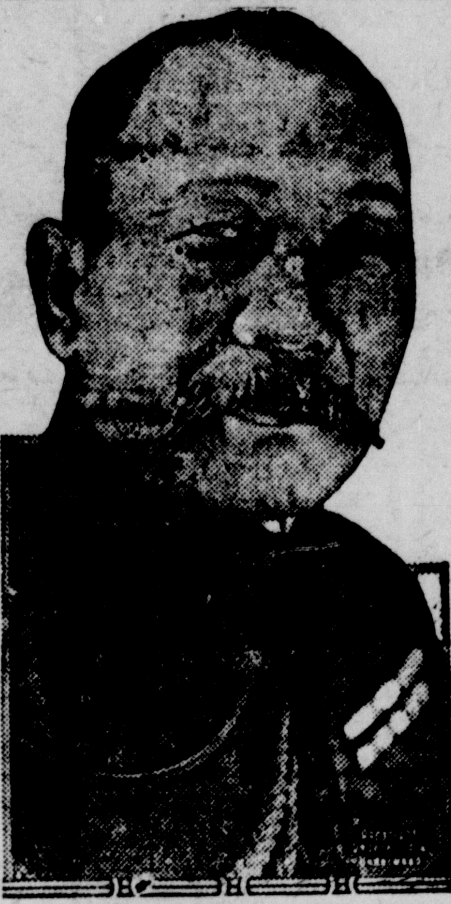

Ironton, O., Sept. 16.—Dr. W. C. Hartinger, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, Columbus, was named superintendent of the Columbus district of the Methodist Episcopal church at the closing session of the Ohio conference here. Dr. L. C. Sparks, district superintendent of the Lancaster district, and Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington, district superintendent of the Chillicothe district, the only district superintendents in the conference eligible to reappointment under the six-year term ruling, were returned to those positions. Other new district superintendents named were: P. E. White, Zanesville district; H. E. Holcomb, Marietta district; P. B. Alexander, Portsmouth district; Rev. Lloyd F. Wood of Belpre, O., will succeed Rev. T. F. Crawford of Zanesville.

Woman Killed.

Mt. Vernon, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Gussie Cottas, 24, of Washington, Pa., was killed near this city when the automobile in which she was riding with her father, a brother and Jack Gardner of Cleveland upset in a ditch. Her skull was crushed between the car and telephone pole. The others escaped injury.

FARMHAND SUSPECTED

Body of Girl Found Murdered Is Identified by the Father.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 16.—Joseph A. Johnson, farmer of Acqueduct, N. J., identified the body of a young woman found on the shore of Carnegie lake, Princeton, with a bullet wound in the head, as that of his 15-year-old daughter, Elizabeth. Johnson made the identification by the clothing and jewelry. He said the girl disappeared on Aug. 12. A farmhand, whose attentions to the girl met objections on the part of his parents, is being sought. An examination of the body revealed that a 32-caliber bullet in the head had killed her. The body, which rested on a copy of a Philadelphia newspaper dated Aug. 12, 1924, was found by a college caretaker. A wrist watch of Swiss make was found on the right wrist and a man's ring set with three red stones on the third finger of the right hand.

Foul Play Feared.

Canton, O., Sept. 16.—Search has been instituted for Lieutenant Joseph L. Loutzenheiser, 24, of Canton, who left this city Sept. 3 to drive to Ft. Clark, Tex., where he was assigned for duty following his graduation this year from West Point. The parents of the young man, Mr. and Mrs. Oren H. Loutzenheiser, have had no word since Sept. 6, at Rolla, Mo., and they express fear that he has met with foul play.

Burns Self to Death.

Lebanon, O., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Barney Evelt, 42, living on the Waynesville pike, near here, saturated her clothing with kerosene, walked into the yard in the rear of her home and applied a match. She was burned to death.

STATE MAY DRILL FOR GAS SUPPLY

Director of Public Welfare Harper Favors Proposal.

WELLS NEAR ATHENS HOSPITAL

State Property in Direct Line of the Producing Oil and Gas Wells, According to Information Reaching the Director—Applications for Lease on State Property in Athens County Turned Down.

Columbus, Sept. 16.—The state of Ohio may drill for a gas supply in Athens county.

With the drilling of oil and gas wells each week nearer the line of the property of the Athens state hospital for the insane, John E. Harper, director of public welfare, favors the state drilling wells on the grounds, instead of leasing the property.

During the past few weeks several applications have been made to Director Harper for a lease on the property, but to each he has given the same reply, and that is to the effect that if any well is drilled on the institution grounds it will be done by the state and not by individuals.

Mr. Harper has written a letter to Dr. John H. Berry, superintendent of the Athens institution, asking for complete information concerning the drilling activities in the vicinity of the hospital property.

Information received by the welfare director is to the effect that gas wells producing from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily have been drilled in within two and one-half miles of the institution, and that the state property is in direct line of the producing oil wells as well as these prolific gasers.

"The coal and gas purchased for the Athens hospital during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, amounted to $44,727.07, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, $27,785.52," Mr. Harper said. "If reports are favorable, the state can drill a well or wells at a comparative small cost, thereby saving the heavy fuel cost. If the supply is greater than that institution needs, we could easily pipe it to Ohio university, which is a state sustained institution, and thereby bring about another enormous saving."

Mr. Harper said the producing sands were found at a depth of about 1,500 feet, and that with drilling operations extending towards the institution property, the state should protect its property against offset wells, which might be able to drain the hospital property of its gas or oil supply. "The state, as a matter of protection, should drill this property," Mr. Harper said.

DAVIS IN MISSOURI

Forty Thousand Hear Him Speak at Monster Barbecue.

Kansas City, Sept. 16.—Thousands attended a Democratic rally at the farm of Dr. Arthur Belson, Democratic candidate for governor, at Buncheon, where John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for president, made his first speech in Missouri. Davis' speech reviewing campaign issues was well received.

A gigantic barbecue featured the occasion, which was attended by 40,000 people.

Davis in his address said the farmer did not ask for special privileges, but that he might stand equal before the law, commanding the respect and attention in congress and the white house that had "too long been granted to other industries." "The Republican party has never recognized farming as an industry," he declared, "and there is no promise of aid for the farmer on the Republican program." He assailed "special privilege" and "corruption in office," denouncing Albert B. Fall and Harry M. Daugherty, Charles R. Forbes, Edwin Denby and others formerly connected with the Republican administration.

Won't Ask for Death Penalty.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 16.—County Attorney C. A. Beal announced he will not ask for the extreme penalty in the cases of six persons awaiting trial here for murder. He said he considered it impossible to secure a death penalty because of the Loeb-Leopold verdict in Chicago. "None of these persons committed such heinous crimes as the one for which Leopold and Loeb were given life terms, and I do not believe we could get a jury to sentence them to death after the verdict of Justice Caverly," Beal said.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Forfeits Bond.

Cleveland, Sept. 16.—Walter Gentry forfeited bond for the second time rather than face federal court on an indictment charging violation of the Harrison narcotic law. Gentry was taken into custody here in May, 1923, and held in bond of $500. He failed to appear last fall when his case was called, and the bond was forfeited. About a month ago he was apprehended in Louisville, where he furnished bond of $1,000 for trial in federal court here. Federal narcotic agents said search for Gentry would be resumed.

Mistaken For Squirrel Law.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 16.—Mistaken for squirrels, Pearl Baldwin, 30, and William Dickson, 25, were shot by their companions in separate hunting accidents near here. Baldwin was sitting in front of a tree when a companion mistaking Baldwin's gray cap for a squirrel, fired. The charge entered Baldwin's face. Physicians say he will recover. Dickson was shot in the leg.

Car Fare Increased.

Cincinnati, Sept. 16.—Car fare will go to 10 cents here on Oct. 1, traction company officials announced. Under provisions of the service at cost franchise, fare will increase one half cent each three months as long as there is a deficit in operating expenses. The deficit still amounts to more than $1,000,000. Fare now is 9 1/2 cents.

Woman May Recover.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Dan Van Volles, mother of a five-day old infant, shot in the breast by her husband Saturday night because the baby was not a boy, has a chance to recover, hospital authorities said. Van Volles killed himself after shooting his wife. There are five children besides the baby, all girls except one.

Hunter Killed.

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 16.—William Baker, 16, of Washington C. H., died soon after being shot by a companion, Paul Rumer, also 16, who mistook William's cap for a squirrel. William had climbed a tree in a woods to eat grapes and his companion, seeing the cap, fired at it.

Three Girls Missing.

Dayton, O., Sept. 16.—Police are searching for three young girls who mysteriously disappeared from their homes Saturday night. The girls are Betty Doris Gard, aged 16; Doris Collins, 14, and Cleo Jeffries, 16.

Clothing Caught Fire.

Massillon, O., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Catherine Rieff, 84, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Hoopingarner, died from burns received when her clothing became ignited from an open gas stove in the bath room.

Shot by Boy.

New Philadelphia, O., Sept. 16.—John Holzworth, Alliance, was accidentally shot by a boy while hunting near Flushing. He was rushed to a Wheeling hospital.

Boat Crews on Strike.

Gallipolis, O., Sept. 16.—Kanawha river towboats are tied up here with their cargoes of coal by a strike of boat crews. All boats are idle.

Jimmy Murphy Killed.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Jimmy Murphy of Vernon, Cal., veteran of many an automobile speed classic, met death on the state fair grounds here when the car he was piloting crashed through a wooden fence on a curve during the 128th lap of the 150-mile race. Murphy survived the accident only a few minutes. He never regained consciousness.

SHARP FIGHTING NEAR SHANGHAI

Battle for Possession of City Still Raging.

HEAVY CASUALTY LISTS NOTED

Rival Forces Engaged at Two Points Without Decisive Results—Belligerents Agree to Permit the Passage of Rice Boats into Shanghai—Outbreak of Hostilities on the Manchurian-Chihli Border Reported.

Shanghai, Sept. 16.—The battle for the possession of Shanghai still rages between the rival Chinese forces.

Casualties yesterday were the heaviest so far recorded. The fighting was desperate along the Shanghai-Nanking railway, west of this city, where the Chekiang forces suffered heavy losses in the sector south of the railway when a flank movement carried the lines beyond Anting. The Chekiang soldiers were caught in a machine gun trap at their furthest point of advance and mowed down, according to reports received here. Fighting also was reported from the Luho sector, northwest of Shanghai, where General Chi Shieh Yuan, commander of the Kiangsu forces, has been trying to establish a contact with his naval forces.

Rival forces have agreed to permit the passage of rice boats into Shanghai. The population of the city has been greatly swelled by the influx of refugees.

An outbreak of hostilities is reported on the Manchuria-Chihli border. It is said that Japan is not apprehensive that the fighting will result in a crisis which will call for any alteration of her policy of watchful waiting. Japanese leaders are, however, admittedly following events with the keenest interest, since Japan's most vital interests in China lie in Manchuria. The South Manchuria railway is well outside the zone of probable hostilities, and therefore it is considered unlikely that the Japanese will be required to meet any grave question.

PERJURY CHARGE AGAINST FIRPO

Argentine Boxer Fighting Deportation Allegations.

New York, Sept. 16.—Luis Firpo, Argentine pugilist, is fighting deportation.

He appeared before Inspector W. W. Brown, chief of the law division of the department of labor at Ellis island, to face allegations that he brought a Cuban manicurist to this country, and perjury at a previous hearing.

It is alleged that Firpo brought Hyacintha Lodes Picart into the country from Havana in July, 1923, and attempted to bring her in a second time on the steamship American Legion on July 21 of this year. Miss Picart was held at Ellis island and then sent on to Havana, but Firpo was allowed to land.

He is charged with perjury because of statements he made at the hearing at that time when he denied he had brought the woman to the United States.

The proceedings were secret. Final decision will be made by Secretary of Labor Davis at Washington. Canon Chase of Brooklyn is leading the fight to have the heavyweight deported.

Hines Chief of Staff.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Major General John L. Hines, hero of the wars with Spain and Germany, became chief of staff of the army, succeeding General John J. Pershing. General Hines is a native of West Virginia and graduated from the United States military academy in 1891. He was succeeded as deputy chief of staff by Brigadier General Dennis E. Nolan, a native of New York.

Moslems Destroy Town.

Calcutta, Sept. 16.—Many persons have been killed and scores wounded in rioting between Hindus and Moslems in Kohat in the Punjab. Hostile tribesmen swept down on Kohat, a city of 30,000, drove the population into the streets and set fire to houses and public buildings. The town virtually was destroyed. Fighting also is reported in Lucknow with heavy casualties.

PARDON SOUGHT

Friends of Chicago Slayer Appeal to Governor Small.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Attorney Thomas E. Swanson prepared a petition for pardon of Bernard Grant, 19, convicted of complicity in the murder of Patrolman Ralph Souders. Swanson is asking for the pardon on the grounds that the testimony connecting Grant with the murder was so flimsy as to be ridiculous. If pardon is refused Swanson said he would ask for commutation of sentence.

"If the board of pardons and Governor Small refuse to accept the legal phase of the case, then I will appeal to the governor to abide by the precedent in the Leopold-Loeb case," Swanson said. "If they were too young to hang, after confessing to what has been termed the direst murder in the history of the country, then certainly Grant, also under 21, of no education, poor parents and none of the refinements and advantages of the two rich youths, is too young to hang. All I ask for is simple justice for this poor boy."

Billy Sunday Again in Action.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Evangelist Billy Sunday, recovered from his recent illness, has started a drive here. He was recently discharged from the Mayo sanitarium in Rochester, Minn., where he was a patient following a nervous breakdown, but he doesn't show any signs of his illness here. In fact, he is in his best fighting form. Comparing the high roller of today with those of the days of Belshazzar, Sunday finds little difference. Regarding the feast of Belshazzar he said: "My friends, that was no common, lager beer, pretzel, weinerwurst blowout; that was a bunch of high rollers that went to that feast."

SOLDIERS SUCCUMB

Two Die Fighting a $3,000,000 Oil Fire on the Coast.

Monterey, Cal., Sept. 16.—Two soldiers of Troop C, 11th United States cavalry, were burned to death fighting the flames that destroyed several tanks of crude oil and gasoline here. They are Private Eustace Watkins and Private George Folio. The property damage is estimated at $3,000,000. The conflagration started during a freak electrical storm when a bolt of lightning touched off one of the crude oil tanks. Burning fuel spread rapidly, igniting other tanks. Homes of eight wealthy residents of the new colony on the shore were destroyed by the spreading fire, which got beyond control of fire companies from surrounding towns and troops from Presidio, which were ordered out of emergency duty. All houses within two blocks of the roaring inferno were vacated.

Fliers at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The army world fliers arrived here from Dayton, O., and were greeted by thousands of spectators. In the crowd were the father and two sisters of Lieutenant Wade, one of the three intrepid fliers. William Wade and Ethel and Anna Gertrude Wade came here from Casopolis, Mich., to greet the lieutenant.

HERRICK
REFRIGERATORS

HERRICK
DRY AIR SYSTEM
REFRIGERATOR

The Big Difference In Refrigerators

The main object of any refrigerator, of course, is the preservation of foods. The refrigerator that will keep foods in perfect condition longest is naturally the refrigerator you want—provided it doesn't increase your ice bills.

The Herrick answers those requirements with facts—not claims. And it does even more. It actually decreases your ice bills while giving you more effective food preservation.

And why? Simply because the Herrick is far more than an ice box—far more than a cold storage place. It is built on the scientifically demonstrated principle that more than merely cold air is necessary to keep foods in good condition for any great length of time.

Perhaps the biggest essentials to scientifically correct refrigeration are—

No. 1. Circulation of cold dry air.
No. 2. Effective Insulation.
No. 3. Air-tight construction.

That the Herrick has these necessary essentials is a demonstrated fact.

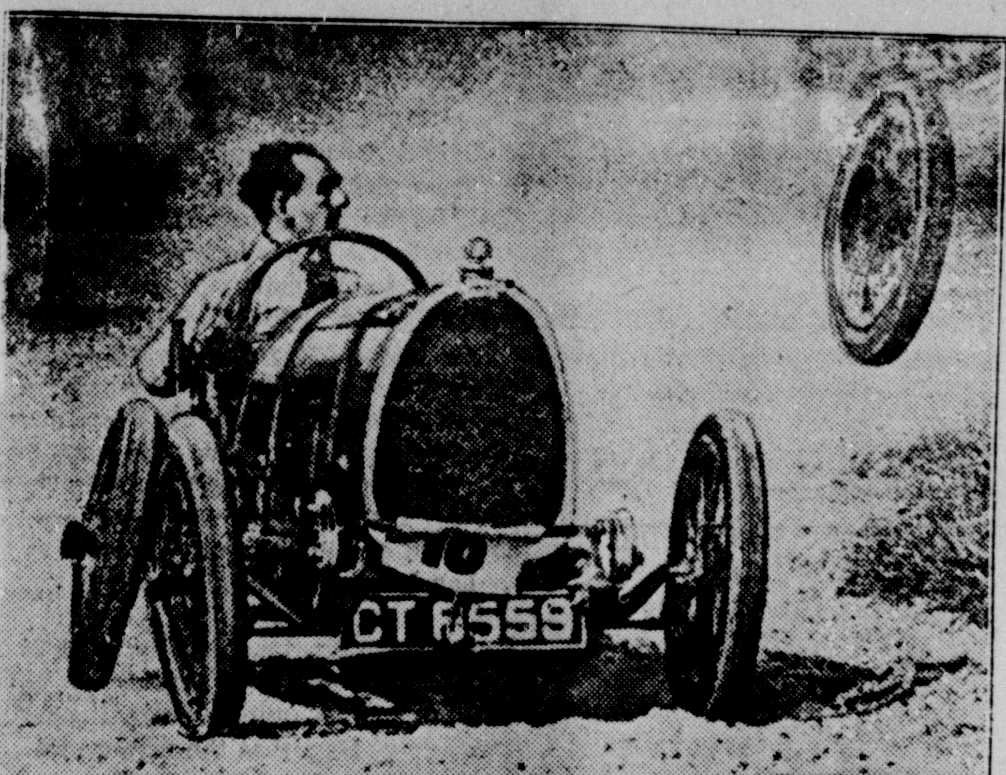

Many proofs of the truth are visible even to the least informed purchaser. Others are hidden within the walls of the refrigerator, but nevertheless there, performing their functions so important to good health and economy.

IS IT CYLINDER
OR PISTON RING?

When Engine Lacks Power
and Compression Is Poor
Make Examination.

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer
College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

There is nothing mysterious about piston rings used in automobile engines, even though repairmen will tell you that new rings of a certain sort will elevate your engine into some new state in which it produces twice as much power and speed as before.
There is a good deal of misinformation about piston rings, and because of it automobile owners spend millions each year for such parts, in many cases getting no results from the expenditure.

Piston rings are supposed to pack
the cylinder, so that the gas does not leak downward and oil upward. In order to be an ideal device it must do this without exerting too much pressure against the cylinder wall, and the pressure must be evenly distributed all around. The ring must fit the cylinder perfectly; it must fit its grooves in the piston so that it will be neither too tight nor too loose.

Find Cause of Trouble.

Such piston rings will run perhaps 20,000 or 30,000 miles, but a time must come when the rings no longer make a gas-tight joint. It then is necessary to find out why the rings
no longer fit well. The average repair man will tell you that when wear takes place only the rings become worn, so that all that is necessary to put the engine in first-class shape is to replace the piston rings.
How the repair man knows is one of the mysteries of this world. The fact is that no one can tell whether the rings are worn or whether the cylinders are worn, or just what the condition of these parts is unless the parts themselves are examined and measured.

This explains a great deal of trouble owners have, because so-called oversize rings were installed in the cylinders. In the first place the cylinders should be made true, either by grinding or some other process, and new rings obtained to fit the new bore. In this way only can one be sure of a perfect fit. To say that new rings will lap themselves into an oval bore is wrong, for they will not, nor will new rings in worn cylinders take the shape presented by score marks or hard spots in the cylinder metal.

Rings Do Not Fit.

When your engine lacks power,
when the compression is poor, when it pumps oil and uses too much fuel,
it usually is a sign that the rings do not fit properly, but it is not a sign that new rings alone will cure these troubles. You must find out the condition of the cylinders into which the rings fit. This means the grooves must be trued in a lathe to the exact size of the new ring.

Emergency Reflector Is Valuable in Repairing

A valuable trick of the trade consists of carrying a large sheet of white pasteboard somewhere about the car—under the rear seat or under the tonneau carpet or in the curtain
bag or under the rear deck, if any.
Keep the sheet folded in half, so that one side remains fairly clean.

If you ever have a night job under the car this white surface will reflect a surprising amount of light from the head lamps or spotlight. By means of a little manipulation you can reflect splendid light around a tire that needs changing, or into the engine compartment in an emergency.— Motor.

Garage on Ground Floor

The automobile garage at the rear or side of the house is passing out of style. Better class homes erected nowadays have the garage built in the ground floor. This can be done without marring the appearance of the residence in the least; saves expense,
and makes the garage much more convenient.

Use Your Third Brake

"Do not forget that your car has three brakes. Put the gears in second, cut off the spark and steep grades will have no terror
for you," says George Stowe, president of the Mitchell Motor Car company of New York.

"Shut off your motor and slide into second as you roll across the ridge. Don't drive in second. Shut off the spark if the throttle will not close. Then if you have a 'six' you gain six compression brakes and your motor cools to boot. If necessary a gentle touch of the service brake now, and of the emergency brake then, generally will hold you nicely. At times the abrupt or long drop will argue for low instead of second in compression. On all but the steep-est descents this will hold your car with but very little use of brakes. It will keep your brakes in reserve for real emergencies such as a motorcycle shooting around the curve on your side of the road or some similar hair-raising episode.

Arranging Switches for Convenience in Charging

When a garage makes a practice of charging storage batteries, use is generally made of a motor-generator set,
or a rectifier, with a number of cells charging in series. The arrangement of switches shown in the drawing will be found very useful for cutting batteries in or out without interrupting

Battery-Charging Switches.

the circuit for more than a second.
Snap switches, such as used for the two-position control of electric lamps, are used, and are connected to the circuit in the manner indicated. To insert a new battery into the circuit it is connected to the pair of hanging leads, and a single turn of the switch instantly cuts it in.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Automobile Hints

The first requisite, before painting
a car, is to have the surface thoroughly cleaned.

Never screw electrical connections
down with the fingers, as a tight joint cannot be made.

Every bearing needs additional care in the summer to keep dust out and the lubrication in.

Pistons must run practically airtight in the cylinder, otherwise power is lost by escaping gas.

When grinding valves care must be taken to see that none of the compound works into the cylinders.

That Chinese still are walkers is shown by the fact that 20 factories in Canton make rubber soles and not one plant makes rubber tires.

In Ohio, $7 bills directly affecting automobile owners were introduced in the legislature, but only one which was passed increased the tax on trucks.

More than 54,000 motorists were convicted of traffic violations in New York city last year. Of these, 5,289 served jail terms of from two days to six months. Nearly half a million dollars was collected in fines.

INCREASES YIELD

Ohio Seed Improvement Association Inspects Growing Grain for Seed.

Wheat growers of Ohio are increasing their yields per acre by improving the quality of the seed they sow, says W. E. Hanger, secretary of the Ohio Seed Improvement association.

This association is an organization of farmers and others interested in the use of farm seeds of high quality. It provides for the inspection and certification of high yielding varieties in the state to be used as seed. Only those fields sown with seed of standard varieties and from known sources are eligible for inspection. The farmer pays for this inspection, which is done under the supervision of the department of farm crops of the Ohio State university.

The farmer whose field passes inspection is permitted to sell his grain under the guarantee of the association and each bag must bear a tag carrying this guarantee.

This year the association in addition to the certified fields, passed certain fields as "Registered." Not more than two heads in every thousand heads examined could be of a variety other than the one grown. The fields passed were absolutely free from cockle, cheat, rye or smut. Only fields sown with registered wheat this fall are eligible for certification next year. Threshing rings last year showed that the standard varieties of wheat yielded 3.1 bushels more per acre than common varieties.

IOWA LEGION MAN DRAWS PROMOTION

Outstanding work as commander of Monahan post of the American Legion at Sioux City, Iowa, in 1923, when that post shattered all membership records and became the second largest post in the world, won for Horace F. Wulf the commandship of the Eleventh Congressional district of the Iowa department. Wulf has just been advanced to the district commandship from the vice commandship. His predecessor, O. P. Bennet, resigned to make the race for county attorney of Monona county, Iowa.

The new district commander has been very active in the work of the Legion ever since his discharge from Camp Hospital No. 6 on July 15, 1919.

Horace F. Wulf.

He became sergeant at arms of Monahan post, the editor of the Monahan Post News, then post commander. During his term of office as commander, the post signed up 2,042 members.

Wulf saw 17 months of army service. Eight of these he spent in training at Camp Cody, New Mexico, where he was with the Thirty-fourth or Sandstorm division. He served overseas for nine months.

Born and reared in Sioux City, Wulf is a graduate of Morningside college. He is engaged in newspaper work in that city.

Scalpers Will Lose Out in Endeavor to Profit

After the passage of the adjusted compensation bill recently, came rumors that "scalpers" were attempting to buy up for cash at large discounts the adjusted compensation certificates of World war veterans. Such "purchases" by scalpers will be met by drastic action on the part of the veterans' bureau, and will result in the scalper finding himself with only "a scrap of paper," was the declaration of Gen. Frank Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, to representatives of the American Legion.

Attention of the veterans' bureau was called to an advertisement in which a veteran offered to sell his certificate "to the highest cash bidder." Bureau officials were also advised of reports that a huge financial pool is being organized for the purpose of buying up compensation certificates in the hope of large profits at the expense of the veteran and of the government.

In reply to the above reports, the following telegram was sent by General Hines: "No certificate issued or right conferred under the World war compensation act shall be negotiable or assignable; neither will such certificate or any right conferred serve as security for any loan except as provided in section 502 of the act, which provides for loans from banks under certain conditions. Any other negotiations or assignments are void."

Legion Home Company, New Ohio Institution

The American Legion Home Company, of Conneaut, Ohio, was recently incorporated at Conneaut, under the state laws of Ohio and received its charter in which the following provisions were included: "This corporation is formed for the purpose of promoting, assisting and fostering civic organizations, for the support and advancement of patriotic principles through local and community groups and societies organized for charity, education and recreation." According to a Legion official, the company has $11,000 with which to start the ball rolling on its Community Betterment campaign.

Soldier Peddler Law Is Regarded as Unfair

The so-called "soldier peddler" law in effect in the state of Minnesota should be repealed, according to a resolution passed by the state legislative committee of the American Legion of Minnesota. The law enables former service men to peddle without a license. The Legion points out that under the law many outsiders have come into the state at various times and competed with local merchants who are paying taxes and who are deserving of the patronage of the consumer. The Legion legislative body also suggested that a law prohibiting aliens from teaching in the grade schools be passed.

PLANT FOOD

Valued at More Than $100 Lost on the Average Farm.

Twenty-three farmers in Scioto county have proved for themselves the actual loss they sustain, in dollars and cents, by leaving manure exposed to atmospheric conditions, as in the open barnyard, so that valuable plant food is lost which otherwise would be returned to the soil.

Having kept records of their ordinary farming operations for six years, in cooperation with the department of rural economics of the Ohio State university, the men decided this year to make a study of the fertility lost by leaving the manure out in the open barnyard or piling it behind the barn, as has been the practice of the majority of the group.

As a basis for the study, outlined by C. R. Arnold, extension specialist in rural economics, the farmers figured the average time that the manure was in the open lot. Then the loss of ammonia phosphoric acid and potash in manure so exposed was computed, based on figures obtained from the Ohio experiment station at Wooster. The result showed that plant food which would cost $108, if purchased as fertilizers, was lost on the average farm. One farmer figured his loss at $300.

Some of the men have covered barnyards, or haul the manure direct from the barn to the field. These men sustained practically no loss.

The Bachelor Knew.

In a certain town a marriage license cost $1 and a dog license $2. Some one brought this up at a woman's club. Why should a dog license cost more than a marriage license? Nobody could tell and some of the girls got pretty peppery about it. It was decided to call up the town clerk. He must have been a grouchy old bachelor for, when they put the question, he replied: "Because it's worth more."

A GARDEN ETCHING

I know a garden where the poppies raise Their delicate, irradiant cups of fire, Where clumps of brilliant bee-balm are ablaze And the blue larkspur lifts a slender spire.

Although no sprigs of rosemary bloom there, Often in shadowy, secluded spots Like scraps of sky blown down the azure air One finds the tiny, frail forget-me-nots.

Beholding them the blossoms see a child Who romped there in the happy long ago.

For him the little pansy faces smiled And the great sunflowers used to gleam and glow.

Now, as a man when he walks in these ways With a half careless, yet a careful tread, Each flower recalls that led of by-gone days.

The pranks he played, the merry words he said, And they, still hoping for that lad's return, Although the man finds favor in their eyes, At night set welcoming lights in grass and fern

Which the old gardener thinks are fireflies.

—Elisabeth Scollard, in the New York Sun.

Paper Saws Employed by Furniture Makers

Among the multitude of uses to which paper is put, is that of making circular saws. These saws are used in making veneer and fine furniture, and are manufactured in an English factory. Thin plates of wood cut by these saws are so finely finished that cabinet makers do not have to plane them at all before they are used. Such saws were originally shown at an English exposition and were driven by an electric motor. They are manufactured from a special type of compressed drawing paper. Compacted paper of such hardness has been made in England that it has even been utilized in place of building stone. Experiments in the manufacture of car wheels from compressed paper have been made in the United States for a number of years, but the product has never competed seriously with the ordinary steel wheels. It is only in the production of certain articles such as the veneer saws that any advantage is found.

Sandals for Sightseers

Several amusing incidents have occurred since the recently discovered mosaics at the Chapter house, Westminster, were opened to the public, the London Times relates. At first visitors had to remove their shoes and assume sandals. One absent-minded man walked into the street still wearing his sandals; while another visitor found a dilapidated pair of shoes left in place of his perfectly sound pair. Such mistakes are now obviated by the sandals being placed over the footwear.

AMUSEMENTS

A picture of pictures—a novelty for the theater-going public, is James Cruze latest Paramount production, "The Covered Wagon," which had its premier presentation at the Met theater last evening.

Some 500 prairie schooners, 100 horses, 600 oxen, hundreds of actors and 1000 Indians from six different tribes, go to make up this stupendous production, the largest thus far presented to the motion-picture public. J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson, Charles Ogle, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Alan Hale, Guy Oliver and John Fox are the principal players. The picturization has adhered closely to the novel by Emerson Hough, and has lost none of the force and interest of the story. It is a love story that is different. Many difficulties are encountered by Lois Wilson and Kerrigan because of the fact that Alan Hale is Sam Woodhull believes that he is engaged to Molly, and refuses to tolerate Will Banion's (Kerrigan) attentions to her. In the end, however, everything turns out for the best and the finest motion picture ever seen in Circleville comes to a close.

HARTMAN THEATER

It is not a moving picture! The comedy of "Merton of the Movies" is a dramatization of Harry Leon Wilson's famous story of the same name by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. The play is under the direction of George C. Tyler and Hugh Ford. Manager Boda, of the Hartman theater, Columbus, has secured this comedy for a week's visit beginning Monday, September 22, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The story appeared in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post about three years ago and expert opinion seems to be that the stage version excels the original story in interest.

The comedy is written in four acts; the opening scene is a country grocery store where Merton Gill is employed as a clerk. He is a movie fan and nothing can dissuade him from being a great cinema actor. He graduates from a correspondence school and with less than $300 he starts for Hollywood. What he finds out there and his experiences in the movies, and with the actresses, make up what has become famous as one of the best comedies ever produced.

"Merton of the Movies" ran for sixty weeks at the Cort theater New York. Glenn Hunter created the title role of Merton Gill and will be seen in it in Columbus. He has become so successful in the part of Merton that he is now the star of the organization. He will be supported by Jean Ford and almost the same cast that played with him so long in New York. There are thirty speaking parts in the play.

Mail orders are being received and it would be well to buy seats well in advance as "Merton" has had unusual popularity and every one will want to see Glenn Hunter in it.

SUITS FOR INSURANCE

Easter and the Rabbit.

Nearly all the world over the hare is associated mythically with the moon, and it is on this account that the rabbit has so much to do with Easter. There has been much dispute as to why the hare should have anything to do with the moon, but nobody has arrived at any satisfactory conclusion on the subject. It is evidently a folklore notion of extreme antiquity, which partly accounts for its wide distribution. The rabbit is nocturnal in habit, coming out at night to feed, and that might have started the idea. It is asserted by students of such matters that the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit, killed in the dark of the moon, represents the last quarter of the moon, and for that reason is lucky.

Why the Earth Rotates.

The Naval observatory says that the earth continues to rotate on its axis because the only forces (such as friction by tides) tending to stop it are inadequate to produce an appreciable effect. The origin of this rotation is a matter for speculation, depending upon how the earth was separated from the primeval nebula out of which the solar system is believed to have been evolved.

KING HUSSEIN DEFEATED

Mecca May Fall Into the Hands of Sultan of Nejd.

London, Sept. 16.—Mecca, holy city of the Islamic world, is about to fall into the hands of the Sultan of Nejd. The sultan, Ibn Saud, defeated King Hussein, his rival, at Taif, in Arabia, and now is in a position to capture Mecca, if he wishes. The Moslem world is vastly disturbed by the news. If Mecca falls, Hussein is expected to take refuge in Jeddah, seeking security under the shelter of the guns of the British navy. Reports indicate he already has withdrawn his outposts from positions between Taif and Mecca and is unable to raise reinforcements to withstand the attacks of his enemy.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

A wedding of unusual interest, which took place Tuesday evening, September 9, in the First Unitarian church of West Newton, was the marriage of two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Steadman of 371 Austn street, West Newton, to two brothers who are the sons of Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lutz of Sanford, Maine, formerly of Newton, where Mr. Lutz was minister of the Channing Religious society. Miss Margaret Ruth Steadman became the wife of Robert Eliot Lutz, a graduate of the Boston School of Physical Education, class of 1923, who was graduated from Harvard in 1921. They announced their engagement last December. Miss Eleanor Steadman, who is a graduate of Miss Price's Secretaria school, class of 1923 became the bride of Roger Alburts Lutz of the Harvard class of 1923, Institute, 1924. Their engagement was announced in April of last year. The church was decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns. While guests were assembling a program of music was played by Henry S. Wilder, organist. There were two officiating clergymen, the Rev. Harry Lutz, father of the bridegrooms and the Rev. Paul S. Phalen, of West Newton. Mr. Steadman gave his two daughters in marriage. Each bride had her distinctive group of attendants and these with the two best men attending the bridegrooms and the double corps of ushers made an unusually large bridal party.

Mrs. Lutz, the mother of the grooms was formerly Miss Mary Smith, daughter of the late Alburts and Mrs. Smith. Rev. Lutz is a native of Pickaway county. Misses Lottie and Addie Downs and brothers, Lee, Ben and Chester, of Darbyville, were hostesses and hosts to a delightful party Friday evening honoring their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orcutt, of Chicago, Illinois. The following guests were present; Misses Elizabeth Hill, Ona Beatty, Jennie Hott, Elizabeth Hott, Kathryn Downs, Sarah Trump, Janie Winner, Gladys Willoughby and Elizabeth Beatty, Professor D. W. Macklin, Lloyd White, Willis Beatty, James Lemay, Irvin Neff, Francis Neff, Max Snyder, Ben Grabill and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Downs and little son, Buster. The evening's entertainment was music, games and dancing and Mr. Orcutt was voted by the guests present as an ideal helper in entertaining and a real live wire in making a party a success. All departed to their homes at a late hour hoping to again meet Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt when they return on their next vacation.

A delightful surprise was held at the home of Mrs. Mary F. Miller of Darbyville, honoring her birthday anniversary. It was planned by her children, Mrs. C. E. Dick, Mrs. Philip List and Mrs. Pearl E. Smith. The following guests were present; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller, Mrs. Jessie W. Miller, Dr. S. A. D. Miller and wife of Darbyville; Mrs. Jennie McCollister of Denver, Colorado Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dick and daughter, Glendel, of Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Philip List and children; Mary Margaret and Roderick, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl E. Smith and daughter, Mary Jane. The guests departed at a late hour after wishing Mrs. Miller many more happy returns of the day.

Miss Hannah Raub of Kingston, entertained with a dinner Thursday in honor of Mrs. Mira Leasure's eighty-second birthday anniversary. A delicious three course dinner was served at the noon hour to the following guests; Miss Mary Snyder of Denver Colorado; Mrs. J. Search, Mrs. Laura Raub, Mrs. Will Raub, Mrs. F. C. Leasure, Mrs. Shannon Jones, Miss Ada Goth and Miss Minerva Dean.

Early Census Records. The first census of the United States was made in 1790, though there were censuses taken in the colonies at an earlier time. It has been set down that the first census in England, covering the whole kingdom, was made in 1801, but it is a matter of record that a census of all England was taken in the year 656, or very close to that year. This census may be seen in an old document called the Tribal Hidage, printed in Birch's "Cartularium Saxonicum" (card or chart of the Saxons). It gives a list of 32 old English districts, the number of families in each and a sum total, which, slightly corrected, gives the number of families in all England at that date. There were then 156,000 families, or about one and a half million souls, in England.

Aluminum Alloy Coating.

In the "protective process" called "calorizing," articles of iron and other metals are cleaned, placed in an airtight retort partly filled with finely divided metallic aluminum and aluminum oxide, and kept at a high temperature for several hours. A current of hydrogen is passed through the retort. The metal's surface becomes coated with aluminum alloy.

STORE CHANGES MANAGERS.

James Martin Smith, manager at the local branch of the Mykrantz store the past few weeks has been appointed manager of the new branch store at the corner of Wilson avenue and Oak street Columbus recently opened by the company. W. M. Chadwick, of Mt. Vernon arrived Monday to take charge of the branch in this city.

DANIEL CREEDON DEAD.

Daniel Creedon, aged 57, died at his home, 79 Blake avenue, Columbus, Monday following a year's illness. The deceased was a brother of City Detective James Creedon. The latter is well known in this city as he assists the local police department in policing the city during the Pumpkin Show.

Women Decided to Live Lives Their Own Way

By ELIZABETH GOODRIDGE

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"THAT big new building up on the hill yonder? Wasn't there last time you were in these parts, four years ago? I guess you're right. It's quite a bit of a story, though. You see, it served its purpose and—but I'm beginning at the wrong end.

"Last time you were here we talked about the number of unmarried women in New England, didn't we? You asked why some of 'em didn't emigrate. You see, though, they say there are two women for every man in this part of New England, some of 'em ought to have got married.

"There was that Elsie Winton, whom Zeke Smith had been courting off and on for twenty years or so. Well, after a time Elsie naturally got tired of him and his procrustes ways. And Molly Bowen, about whom there had been some talk concerning Ed Green, the hotel man. He didn't come up to the scratch. And there was Winnie Currence, and Jenny White, and Nell Pringle—they didn't get their beaux any further than the ice cream counter, and that's how the idea came about.

"The folks in Boston thought at first it was a nunnery. The Chronicle sent one of its reporters down to see, but he didn't get any further than the wicket before Elsie Winton's face stopped him. She explained the matter to him as she slammed it. 'Just a few New England women who have got tired of men and have decided to live their own lives in their own way,' she said.

"The plan was a hit from the start, especially as Molly, who was twenty-four and pretty for her age, drove the cart round the houses, wearing a mask and a loose Mother Hubbard. But what gave everybody a turn was the big sign standing outside the gate, which read 'No Men Admitted.'

"Zeke Smith was one of the first to come and see what was doing. He got as far as the wicket, and there Elsie Winton's face stopped him.

"You can't come in, Zeke,' she explained, 'being a man. I'm sorry you're a man, because if you weren't you'd be welcome. But we don't have dealings with men any more, except in a business way.'

"As I was saying, Molly drove the cart, and pretty soon folks began to notice that she wasn't as punctual as usual. And as for Ed, whenever the boarders howled for him to make a kick about the victuals, he wasn't anywhere in sight. The fact is, he had got into the habit of strolling out into the country about the time when Molly and the cart were due.

"I don't know how Elsie Winton heard about it, but she went right up in the air. Elsie was forty-three, and her hopes had soured from being kept too long. So there was a terrible rumput up at the institution, and they talked of expelling Molly; but finally it simmered down and Elsie drove the cart herself after that.

"However, the folks round here, who, as you may have observed, are snoopy, couldn't help noticing that all the young fellows in the village used to take the road past here that leads up toward the institution. And we guessed that some day or other Elsie Winton would come home unexpected and raise Cain. She is a powerful woman with her tongue, as you may have noticed.

"We got so interested that nobody thought very much about anything else. Bill Wise, who farms on the ridge, told us he used to see the young fellows gossiping with the girls over the fence that had been put up.

"Well, to get on, at last the flare-up came, and in just the way we had looked for. Elsie Winton came back one morning at half-past nine, and there were Ike and Ed and Jim hobnobbing with Winnie and Jenny and Molly over the fence. And two or three more of the young fellows with the girls, too.

"And Molly, being a woman, saw that it was best to get her tongue in first.

"We're done with your old society, Miss Winton,' she said. 'Ed and I are going to be married on the first of the month.'

"And Jim and I on the fifteenth,' put in Winnie Currence, glaring at Elsie Winton.

"And Ike and I are going to be engaged as soon as he makes some money out of his poetry,' continued Jenny White.

"Just then Zeke Smith's cart came up the lane, and Elsie Winton called to Zeke. 'Come here,' she said.

"Zeke came lumbering along with a grin.

"Repeat to me what you have just told me,' said Elsie to Zeke.

"We're going to be married tomorrow,' said Zeke, twirling his hat nervously.

"Should beat them all, sir. And when the boys understood they just let out a yell, and started kissing and hugging all round. So after that the society was naturally dissolved, and Zeke used the house to keep his chickens in. But I guess the spirit of enterprise hasn't died out of New England yet, even if the women did have to show the men they couldn't have them in order to bring them up to the scratch.

"Yes, they gave Mr. and Mrs. Smith a baby grand. Don't you think it was worth it?"

Underthings Are Cotton or Linen

Women of Old-Time Elegance Demand All White; Lace Must Be Real.

Once the hold of a tradition is slackened and the charm of a sentiment broken, the order of things is often reversed and anything may be expected, especially in the polite customs of dress, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times.

When that time-honored mark of refinement, the white linen handkerchief, disappeared before the gay-colored kerchief of chiffon, voile and hand-painted gauze, it was foreseen that other violent extremes would come. And they are coming fast. Handkerchiefs are trifling things, yet the latest styles in them have served as an opening wedge for other ideas even more radical.

The first of these has to do with lingerie. Black underthings are made of the finest and most fragile materials for the most fastidious wearers. When they were first displayed, a little while ago, they were not taken seriously, though they bore the stamp of Paris and were presented by the most exclusive shops here.

Every one thought they were just samples, amusing and chic as models to be copied in white or delicate colors. Not at all! They were disclosed as the last murmur in fashion. Some women who go in for the unusual lead with such éclat that they succeed in establishing a mode have taken to the new dusky lingerie, and will doubtless cause the extraordinary soon to be accepted as the ordinary.

It is the history of every innovation, though in this instance the accepted standard of taste and propriety is more deeply implanted than most fashion ideas.

In the diaries kept by women of quality in the oldest American towns are records of the gifts brought by sailing vessels from France; the snowiest lingerie, convent-made things, hand-embroidered on linen of the finest quality, but always all white. The touch of color in embellishing underwear belonged to the peasant class; it was picturesque but was unsuitable for the wardrobe of a lady.

Eyelet work was the popular form of needlework, being both dainty and durable, the second quality not being a consideration in the up-to-date type of lingerie. Convent-made underwear was the mark of a lady in the earlier days, and her daughters were educated with the same ideal, one of modesty and sensibility.

In contrast to the flimsy garments that compose the sketchy attire now in vogue, those handmade linen and cotton underthings seem rather bourgeois and would not be considered by even the humblest among the majority. In the minority are the women who hold to the old standards of excellence and will have only hand work in their personal and household linens, feeling that nothing else is acceptable to a woman of refinement.

These may still find a large and luxurious assortment of exquisitely done lingerie things, both material and workmanship of finest quality and of most artistic design. But for a woman of old-time elegance they must be all white, of sheerest cotton or linen, never silk. Whatever of lace, much or little, is introduced must be real, never an imitation, or what is now known as novelty lace.

Simple but Gay Frock in Black and White Fabric

One could hardly imagine a more effective frock for a small girl than one in black and white wash fabric. The scalloped yoke and wide band are solid black, while the center section is white, which forms a background for little balls embroidered in bright colors, red, blue and yellow.

Artificial Flowers on Gowns for Evening Wear

Artificial flowers will be seen on most of the new gowns, especially the models designed for evening. Elaborate garnitures are among the most attractive novelties from Paris, which is the traditional atelier and market for artificial flowers. The latest fad is a tiny nosegay worn on the shoulder. Some women prefer natural flowers, a single orchid or gardenia, but the substitute, made as exquisitely as the fingers of the French women can make it, is popular. Any plume or cluster may be selected, but it must be worn on the shoulder.

Electricity on Farms
Fourteen Minnesota farms have been provided with every known electrically operated household or labor-saving device, without cost to the farmer, in a three-year test supervised by professors of the agricultural college of the University of Minnesota to determine whether it is practical to use electricity on farms. The farms are in the Mississippi river valley, near Red Wing, Minn., and about twenty miles south of Twin Cities. They are situated along a trial power line which measures 6.2 miles. The farm homes are being equipped with electric ranges, washing machines, manglers, toasters and other devices. The farmyard is to be equipped with electrically operated cream separators, milking machines, feed grinders, conveyors, thrashing machines and wood-sawing machines.

Care of Strawberry Bed After Harvest
Clean Up Refuse and Pull Out All Old Plants.
It is advisable to set a new strawberry bed every spring, but in the small home garden, at least, it will often pay to continue the bed for a second and possibly a third season. The United States Department of Agriculture advises that if the bed is to be saved for another year any mulch and other refuse, such as weeds and strawy manure that may have accumulated through the summer, should be raked off as soon as the crop is gathered. Then the older plants should be pulled out or removed with a hoe, leaving only enough of the younger ones to send out runners to make a new narrow or wide matted row, as desired. If the leaves on the plants left are spotted with disease, cut or mow them off and burn them.
A pound of nitrate of soda per square rod of ground, scattered around the plants will start a vigorous growth. Put this fertilizer on when the plants are dry, for it will injure any damp parts of the plant it touches. Handled in this way a bed may be kept for several years, because the new plants of one year are saved for fruiting the next. Old beds may be cleaned up, as just mentioned, by hoeing or plowing the spaces between rows and leaving the youngest plants in the row.

Natural Thought
He wore a long-tailed coat, a frock tie and a stiff hat that marked him as a small-town aristocrat of the old school. At the hotel he strolled around the lobby with an air of ownership that was very impressive. But in a three days' stay not a nickel had been scattered among the help and the word has spread fast that the colonel was not all that he seemed to be.
He had just had his "boots" shined, and as the boy brushed him off, he remarked:
"George, what would you think if I gave you 50 cents for this shine?"
George answered right up:
"Ah would think you wanted forty cents change, suh."—Kansas City Star.

Sick Poultry Can Be Cured Any Season of the Year.
Circleville, Ohio R. F. D. 1, August 26, 1924.
Mr. Fickardt:—
I have raised chickens for many years but my experiences this year have been more trying than any previous season that I can recall. All spring I had been having trouble with my flock, both young and old, and during the month of July I lost about one hundred of my chickens, quite a number had limber neck.
About August 1, I was nearly frantic and did not know which way to turn. I ran across about this time a bottle of Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops and I can say that the results I obtained have fully justified your statements.
One case of limber neck was too sick to take the medicine as the other chickens did, but I gave it some with a medicine dropper thinking then that it was a waste of time, but the next morning it was still around and it finally got well. The rest of the flock have straightened out and they are doing well now.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Lucy Honnald.

FARM FACTS
Keep all vegetables gathered to encourage fruiting.
This year silo capacity will mean corn crop insurance.
The experiment station is constantly ferreting facts for farmers.
Clean up the yard and fertilize the shrubbery that is not making good growth.
One method of making the profits on the farm higher is to keep labor expenses lower.
The results in co-operative marketing depend upon services performed, and how they are performed.
Keep tomatoes sprayed with Bordeaux arsenical for flea beetle, and dust with calcium arsenate for potato beetle.
Hundreds of thousands of farmers, and practically every experiment station in the land have proven the efficiency of the silo.
The best way to kill common red sorrel is to sweeten the soil with agricultural limestone and improve the soil so that other crops will smother it out. Sorrel grows on soils that are too sour for other crops, so is usually an indicator of poor soils.

QUAINT OLD HOUSE FOUND IN SCOTLAND

Landmark in Edinburgh Is Known as "Huntly House."

Of the quaint and beautiful houses
still standing in the historic "Royal Mile" between Edinburgh castle and Holyrood palace at Edinburgh, Scotland, what is reputed to be the oldest of all, Huntly House, is being purchased by the corporation of Edinburgh.

The prospect of preserving this link with the past gives intense gratification to the numerous lovers of old Edinburgh. Just what purpose the old house will be used for is not yet announced.

It is by no means clear why this ancient landmark should be known as Huntly House. The examinations of the title and feu charters incidental to the purchase may, however, reveal interesting evidence of a connection with the ancient Scottish line of Huntly.
Doctor Chambers, in his "Tradition of Edinburgh," calls it "The Speaking House." Round this title he weaves an amusing fantasy. Here, in part, is his explanation for the name:

The house was built in that time of crisis in Scottish national history, 1570, the year of the assassination of the earl of Moray (The Good Regent). So rich a mansion seemed to the common people out of keeping with the state of the times and its erection was said to have caused expressions of public surprise. To answer popular criticisms the owner had a decorative stone panel inscribed in Latin and inserted in the face of the building. Translated the inscription reads, "I am the happy man today. Your turn may come tomorrow; then why should you repine?
1570."

Apparently the criticism did not diminish, for as the building proceeded a second tablet appeared, saying, "As thou of thy tongue, so I of my ears, am lord."

Farther along the building another panel in gilded lettering informs us that "To the expectant heart the comcerns of mortals are merely a shadow."

Since the builder has amused us so much with the history of his feelings
during its erection, it is a great pity, continues Doctor Chambers, that we should not know who he was.

Nothing else is known of the early history of Huntly House beyond the fact that the Cannongate magistrates granted a charter for it in September, 1647, to the incorporation of Hammer-men. It was, however, occupied in 1753 by no less than the dowager
duchess of Gordon.

First Bells Made of Clay.

Man made bells before he learned to write. These first bells were vessels of clay, which gave off a pleasing resonance when struck. Aboriginal people used bells as ornaments.

Moses, Isaiah and the prophet Zacha-riah mention the use of bells as anklets on the feet of women, on yokes for horses, and in temples. The Greeks decked their triumphal chariots with bells. The Romans used them to call the citizens to temple and forum.
Paulinus of Nola, an Italian bishop,
first used bells in Christian worship.

About 400 A. D., shortly after the time of Paulinus, church towers became general in Europe. Two hundred years later a papal bull specified that every church should have a bell.
The curfew bell, the angelus bell and the passing bell are part of bell practice and tradition. The ringing bells ushered in the French revolution. The great bell of St. Mark's, Venice, and others equally famous, were used as alarms.—Detroit News.

Use of Litmus Paper.

The coloring principle of litmus, the matter or substance obtained from certain lichens by exposing them to the air in the presence of ammonia and potassium carbonate, is a red acid, but the color of its salts is blue. Aside from the use of litmus as a dye, it is used in the laboratory to detect the presence of acids or alkalis. Any acid turns it red and any alkali restores the blue color. In the market litmus is sold as a lumpy blue powder, but "litmus paper," an unglazed paper treated with litmus, is the method most commonly used for the detection of acids.
Lichens are peculiar formations in the plant world. They thrive under great exposure and are found in high altitudes and as far north or south as any plant can grow.

Get First Load of Grain.

tons of grain, arrived from Nov-

years, it is said. Others are expected to follow as Italy has purchased 500, 000 quintals of Russian grain.

MILLIONS IN BACK PAY NOW IN SIGHT

Payment of millions of dollars in back compensation to disabled World war veterans depends upon the outcome of a controversy between the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion and the United States veterans' bureau.

Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans' bureau, has issued preliminary instructions to field offices that payment of retroactive compensation to those persons whose cases have been presumptively connected with service under section 200 of the World war veterans' act of 1924, may not be made for any period before the date of the approval of the act on June 7, 1924. Watson B. Miller, chairman of the Legion committee, has taken issue
with this view.

Mr. Miller declares that there is in the phrasing of the law a "definite suggestion of retroactivity in that the time a man acquired his disability is placed back within a period now some years remote."

No claims which have been connected with service by historical facts,
wherein under the provisions of section 210 of the act compensation may be paid retroactively for one year prior to the filing of the claim, the amount depending upon the physical condition of the claimant during that period, are affected by the bureau's preliminary ruling, it was pointed out.
The Legion purposes, it was learned,
to place upon the same status those claims which have now been connected with service through the operation of the "presumptive" clause of the new act.

The importance of the ruling can easily be recognized when it is stated that during the first month of operation under the presumptive provision 2,800 tuberculous, 2,500 neuropsychiatric and 250 amoebic dysentery cases, making a total of 5,500 claims, were connected with service and placed upon a compensable basis.
These cases alone, at the hospital rate, it was declared, involve a half-million dollars in compensation each month.

If the Legion wins its point, the benefits to the men involved would be enormous. The fact that the bureau has not yet issued a permanent regulation covering this point, although more than two months have passed since the passage of the act, is taken to indicate the possibility of a favorable decision.

New York Elks Praise Massachusetts Legion

Expressing appreciation of the courtesy of the American Legion in assigning a detail of service men for the assistance and accommodation of the visiting Elks in convention at Boston recently, the New York Elks sent a letter to General Edwards, commander of the Massachusetts Legion, as follows:

"I am sure you will be pleased to learn that the men conducted themselves admirably and made a very pretty showing in the parade. We received all along the line of march applause, and I feel that much of this was due to the fact that we had these men at the head of our line. The young men whom you sent were indeed fine examples of sturdy soldiery
and American ruggedness. Signed,
New York Elks."

Must Not Delay Filing Compensation Claims

Advice from the national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis, urges all ex-service men not to delay in the filing of their adjusted compensation claims as a "safety first" measure. There is a provision of the compensation law, section 601, whereby only the face value of the insurance policy will be paid beneficiaries if the veteran dies before filing his claim, whereas, if the claim has been filed, beneficiaries receive the matured value of the policy.
The Legion points out that, inasmuch as there are two veterans' deaths in the United States every time the hour hand passes from one hour to the next, there is real danger in careless delay in filing of applications.

Uncle Sam Reports to Legion on Insurance

The United States government, biggest insurance company in the world, is not maintaining the reputation of insurance companies as to profits, according to figures recently released to American Legion officials in Washington regarding the war risk term insurance. In May, 1924, the total amount of money received by the veterans' bureau in premiums on war risk term insurance policies was approximately $420,000,000. The total payments made by the bureau up to that time for permanent disability and death claims were more than $520,000, 000. In addition, the government still has liabilities against it for unpaid installments of death and total disability claims of more than $1,000,000,000.

HUNTING FATALITY.

ton C. H., died fifteen minutes after being shot by a companion, Paul Rumer, also aged 16, two miles from took Baker's cap for a squirrel. Baker had climbed a tree in the woods to eat some grapes and his companion seeing the cap, fired at it.
